MESSAGE OF WELCOME

IT GIVES ME great pleasure in this the 50th year of Chatham Cup football to welcome everyone to this final tie for the 1972 season.

Without wishing to detract from teams I feel that the two teams, Christchurch United and Mount Wellington, are the strongest and most talented sides to ever contest a final.

Today should be a day for champagne football. Both teams have now reached the final replay, and I am sure both are equally determined to take the trophy.

Once again this year we have seen giants clash and the giant-killers make their way through to the latter rounds of the Gillette Chatham Cup competition. So continues the drama of the past 50 years, during which 26 different clubs have won the trophy.

Everyone will know of course that the trophy itself was presented by officers and men of H.M.S. Chatham in 1922, which certainly was one of the major milestones in New Zealand soccer history.

In spite of the increasing professionalism evident in New Zealand football it is still a tribute to the Chatham and to this competition that the number of entries remains high and competition fierce for those wishing to take home a Cup Winner's medal . . .

May I wish both teams the best of luck for today and express the hope that this replay will be long remembered by players and spectators alike.

In closing may I extend grateful thanks to Gillette (NZ) Limited for their most generous support of the competition during the last three years.

JACK COWIE, Chairman,
New Zealand Football Association.

AT THE "BASIN" LAST SATURDAY

"What a great game to watch . . . and what a great job the players did for soccer." That summing up of last Saturday's "Final" by Bert Ormand was typical of the comments heard at the conclusion of the match.

It was an overcast and slightly drizzly afternoon, the pitch looked greasy and this point was soon proved as players slipped and slithered for yards with legs pointing skywards after successful and unsuccessful efforts to rob their opponents of the ball.

It was obvious too that the southerly wind would also play an important part in this game and both sides made use of its advantage and disadvantage.

A notable feature was the number of times the Mt Wellington defence became almost completely broken when under pressure. Perhaps it was over-eagerness on United's part that they could not fully capitalise on this weakness. It could have been ground conditions, but whatever the cause the game was kept well alive because of it.

The fight back by United with the score 2-3 against them which culminated in Graham Dacombe's third goal brought the crowd to their feet and in the third minute of extra time Turner's shot which seemed certain to hit the back of the net only to be headed off the line by Davis was not good for those with their hearts already in their mouths.

When Dacombe put United ahead just after the start of the second spell of extra time it was thought the crowd would go berserk with excitement. Joy for United—sorrow for the Mount, and for a few moments United were away on top.

Then the pattern gradually changed and the "Mount" began to stage their final come back. They played with grim determination and much to the very obvious delight of their supporters, the long faces appeared as if by magic on the large United party as Earl Thomas banged home the equaliser with but one minute to go.

There was the usual comment about the referee. At one stage when it was announced that the ball had been specially flown out from England for the match, one downcast supporter shouted, "A pity they didn't fly a referee out with it".

Sure there were the decisions that were made, decisions that the majority of the crowd, who were some 100-150 yards away, could not argue with, but the referee was the man on the spot, he adjudicated on what he saw, if he had not, then he would have been letting himself down and the game of soccer as well. What is fair to one team nearly always seems unfair to the other. This has always been so and no doubt will continue to be. On reflection I feel that the referee did the job well as he saw it and some of the criticism he received was rather harsh and unfair.

Well both teams have lived to fight another day—this day. Perhaps it is too presumptuous to hope that this match will be better than the last, that I feel is asking too much. If it is as good to watch, then we are in for another "football treat".

CHATHAM CUP HISTORY

The arrival of H.M.S. Chatham and H.M.S. Philomel in New Zealand waters with their base in Auckland after the end of World War 1 began the saga that is celebrated today—50 years of Chatham Cup football.

In 1921 Philomel entered a team in the Auckland competitions and its presence created such interest that attendances jumped from hundreds to thousands for club games. That season the sailors beat North Shore in the Falcon Cup Final.

The next season the same two teams met in the championship final but the even calibre of the teams was such that no finality was reached even after three games.

Later the following year (the actual date was December 4, 1922) members of the New Zealand Football Association received an invitation to visit H.M.S. Chatham for the purpose of receiving the Chatham Cup.

The Cup, valued at £150, was placed on the deck of the ship and the whole of the ship's company paraded for the presentation. Captain Prickett, who made the presentation, stated that a deputation of the ship's company had interviewed him expressing a desire to give a football cup to New Zealand in return for the kindness extended to all during the time of the ship's sojourn in the Dominion. Sir Charles Skerrett (then Mr Skerrett) received the trophy and expressed appreciation of the motive which had animated the gift.

Interested in all sports, particularly athletics in which he has represented Auckland.

EARLE THOMAS (striker): Age 23. Sales representative. N.Z. born. New Zealand debut against Australia in 1967 and with 16 appearances for the National team has now good prospects of becoming the highest capped player in our history. First game for Auckland in 1968 with 12 appearances since then. One of the highest goal scorers in Rothmans National League to date with 45 goals in 48 matches. One of the most talented footballers produced in N.Z. Tremendous ball control, hard running and fine in the air. Arcus Trophy award in 1970. N.Z. Under 23 and Auckland B cricket representative, also likes golf.

Caps. A naturally gifted player but not always given recognition for his creative play and he has goal scoring ability. Interests outside football are his wife and family.

JOHN HOUGHTON (striker or centre back): Age 27. Electrician. Scottish born. Came to N.Z. at age of 15, had one season with Eastern Suburbs, then joined with the Mount. Has made 12 appearances for Auckland starting with game against Manchester United in 1967. National team debut on New Caledonia trip last season. CHRISTCHURCH UNITED

TONY FLEMING (goalkeeper): Age 28. Electrician, English born. First played for Christchurch City, transferred to United. Canterbury debut against Wales last season though it was a very brief appearance as he was injured during the first minutes of the game. This injury robbed him of possible selection to the national teams against Wales, then after his selection for the Oceania Tournament in New Caledonia, the tournament was cancelled. Withdrew from squad this season because of home and business commitments. Strong, rugged 'keeper, good hands and fearless.

GRAHAME DAVIS (right back): Age 24. Hairdresser, Scottish born. Due to be married early next year and has plans to move to Australia. Withdrew from World Cup squad for this reason. Has played 13 times for Canterbury. In 1970 he went down with appendix a few hours prior to his being due to play for N.Z. against the Jardines. A tenacious, aggressive player, dangerous on the overlap, strong in the air.

KEN FRANCE (Centre back, captain): Age 31. Police driver, English born. One of the most experienced players in New Zealand. A former England Youth International while with Blackburn Rovers. N.Z. representative, was vice-captain in the Saigon Tournament. Has played 19 times for Canterbury. A competitive footballer to whom nearly all right is not all right, an inspiration to his team. Joined United midway through the 1970 season when he was coach of Technical. This will be his third game in a "Cup Final".

GRAHAM GRIFFITHS (centre back): Age 26 this month. Christchurch born. Leather goods manufacturer. At 6ft 3ins is the tallest man in the team. N.Z.F.A. player of the Year in 1968 after World Cup matches in Israel. Canterbury debut in 1965. 27 games. His partnership with Ken France has been a potent weapon for United. On his day a very dominating player.

LAWRIE BLYTH (left back): Age 20. Sports goods salesman. Scottish born. First season in N.Z. Was on the books of Preston North End when coach, Terry Conley made a soccer "holiday" to Britain during our closed season. Lawrie soon won his place in the first team when Ian Park moved into the attack. A strong and aggressive player.

TOM RANGLES (linkman): Age 31. Trainee teacher. English born. On the books of Stoke City before moving to Australia where he played in Melbourne (and for Victoria) and Sydney (also for New South Wales) in Senior teams. Came to Christchurch in 1971, voted 'Player of the Team' by supporters at the end of last season. Cultured, experienced footballer, rarely wastes a ball and a more tenacious tackler than given credit for. A deadly penalty taker. Came to Christchurch as a painter-decorator, now in second year at Teachers College.

BRIAN HARDMAN (linkman): Age 32. English born. Another Lancastrian in the side with Ken France. Came to Christchurch 1970 after professional and semi-professional experience in England, at the invitation of Christchurch City, transferred to United 1971 and has been a keyman in the side ever since. Centre of some on-field controversies but his aggressive play marks his character on the field, but not off it. A player who is never lost for a word in any situation and the comedian of the side. Played a "blinder" in the Final last Saturday.

VIC POLLARD (linkman): Age 27 this month. School teacher. English born. Has been in New Zealand since age of 9. One of the country's sporting greats as a test cricketer and footballer. Third season with United and another tremendous favourite. Solid and adventurous with probably the fiercest shot in N.Z. soccer. His dislike of Sunday sport now a byword and has cost him many more appearances for his country. Due to be married today—so—probably will not be playing in this match.

IAN PARK (striker today, fullback by preference): Age 20. Bank clerk. English born. Like Lawrie Blyth, was at Preston when Terry Conley called and arrived here in March. Played for South Island against Wolves at left back. Switched to the attack during second half of United's away game with Eastern Suburbs and immediately scored twice. Since then has totalled nine goals in the League and six in the "Cup".

GRAHAM DACOMBE (striker): Age 20. Christchurch born. Outstanding junior player through all grades. Named by visiting Australian Schools side, as a 16 year old, as the greatest prospect met by the tourists. Made a spectacular debut for United in 1970 with two goals in his first game, three in the second and three in the third. Scored all four goals in the Wellington "Final" last Saturday.

ALAN MARLEY (striker): Age 21. Executive at paintbrush manufacturers. English born but came to Christchurch with family as a boy, played junior football through the grades. Returned to Britain as a 17 year old for a period with Crewe then to Dover in the Southern League, returned early last season to lead New Brighton to the regional championship and entry to Rothmans National League. Transferred to United at the start of the season. Is on of the most feared strikers in the country. Excellent ball control, tireless worker, he and Ian Park have moulded into a dangerous striking unit.

JOHN OLIVER (full back or linkman): Age 26. Soft toy manufacturer. United's latest acquisition, joining the club in June from Australia where he played for Pan-Hellenic. A player who so obviously will be a great asset to United when he forces his way into the side. (Today may be the day). Came to Christchurch to marry a N.Z. girl.

STUART CAMERON (striker). Age 21. Christchurch born. Switched to United from Christchurch City midway through this season and won Graham Dacombe's place for three games. Stuart has always been an outstanding local prospect. One of the finest hitters of a 'dead' ball, capable with either foot.

BILL WEIR (reserve goalkeeper): Age 26. Scottish born. Has the doubtful honour of being reserve keeper for his fourth cup final. Had that position to Owen Nuttridge in Christchurch City's final team, to Ian Marshall in Technical's and to Tony Fleming last week at the "Basin". Was reserve to Derek Phillips in United's team at start of 1970 season but took over for the latter part. Returned to Technical last year and rejoinied United as Fleming's understudy this season. A daring keeper with good hands, has been unlucky to be the "bridesmaid" so often.
